BLOWN TO ATOMS BY DYNAMITE

THIRTEEN MEN KILLED;
SEVEN INJURED

Explosion of Infernal Machine
Placed Under Railroad Station in Colorado Results in Death and Destruction.

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 6.—Thirteen men were killed by the explosion of an infernal machine at the railroad station at Independence to day and seven others were seriously injured. Eleven men were killed outright and two died later from their wounds. All the killed and injured, with the exception of two men, are from Deadwood, Minn., and were non-union miners employed on the night shift at the Flindley mine.

The men had quit work at 2 a. m., and were waiting to board a suburban train on the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad and return to their homes in Cripple Creek and Victor. Just after the engineer of the approaching train blew his whistle as a signal to the miners, a terrific explosion occurred beneath the station platform, on and near which twenty-six men were gathered. The platform was blown into splinters, the station wrecked and about a half dozen feet deep was torn in the ground. Fragments of bodies were hurled through space for several hundred feet and later picked up still quivering. Some bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, hands, ears, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found on buildings 500 feet away and blood stained everything within a radius of fifty feet.

The crew of the approaching train were the first men to reach the scene of the disaster. They were joined in a few minutes by hundreds of persons and relief work was begun at once. A special train was sent from Cripple Creek, carrying physicians, nurses, officers and many others, but when it reached Independence the injured had already been removed to a hospital in Victor.

INFERNAL MACHINE.
The infernal machine, with which the diabolical work was done consisted of a quantity of dynamite, estimated at 100 to 300 pounds, a loaded revolver and a long slender steel wire attached to the trigger. The wire ran from under the station to a cribbing of the Delmonico property about 400 feet away, where its end was fastened to the rung of a chair. Dynamite was placed close to the muzzle of the revolver, which was discharged by pulling the wire when the engineer blew his whistle. The ball from the revolver exploded the dynamite. A man was seen running down the hill from the Delmonico after the explosion. Victor troops, who were ordered out by Mayor French, were so stationed as to keep people from passing over the path taken by this man and bloodhounds were sent from Canyon City and Trinidad for the purpose of trailing the assassin.

The infernal machine used to day was similar to the one exploded in the Vindicator mine on Nov. 21, 1903, killing two men. Without any explanation Sheriff Robertson has resigned and Edward Bell, a member of the Citizens' alliance, has been appointed to succeed him. City Marshal O'Connell, of Victor, swore in a large number of special policemen, who are patrolling the streets with shotguns. O'Connell was afterwards suspended by Mayor French and Major Naylor appointed provisional marshal. Union miners have armed themselves and declare they'll resist any attempt to run them out of town.

TO INVESTIGATE.
Denver, June 6.—The Western Federation of Miners has appointed C. C. Mitchell of South Dakota, C. Mahony of Montana, Henry L. Lane of Idaho to investigate the dynamite outrage at Cripple Creek. Instructions were to make the investigation thorough and spare no one.

NUMBER OF VICTIMS.
Denver, June 6.—As near as can be estimated to night, twenty-two are dead and a score or more injured as a result of events leading up to the reign of terror existing in the Cripple Creek mining district to night. Beginning with this morning, when an infernal machine set under the station platform at Inday was set off and a number of non-union men killed and others injured, events followed thick and fast. They culminated in a riot, where bullets flew and at least one man was killed and a number injured. Later a company of militiamen rushing past the union headquarters searching for union miners, they were fired upon and according to reports, from union men concentrated in the union hall. The soldiers stormed the building and from last accounts at least seven union men were shot dead in their tracks. The remainder fled, the blood streaming from the wounds of the wounded. Soldiers who were unhurt pursued and arrested a number of the fleeing men and confined them in the night to scour the country in search of men supposed to have been in the hall at the time of the assault.

While everything is in readiness to rush troops to Cripple Creek, Sheriff Bell says he will ask further aid as a last resort.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Corpse of Last Mayor of Michigan City Discovered by Searchers

Negaunee, Mich., June 6.—The body of Dr. Hudson, mayor of Negaunee, was found in the Escumaba river to day, near Sapos. A special train had left for Sapos to bring the body home. Dr. Hudson and a friend went hunting two weeks ago and became separated. The friends returned home and searching parties had been scouring the country for Hudson.

CLUB WOMEN AFFAIRS.
Washington, June 6.—At a reception to night in honor of delegates from the local clubs to the national federation of clubs held at St. Louis, Mrs. Colby, editor of the Woman's Tribune, discussed "Yellow Journalism." She made a brief reply to McVieville E. Stone, asserting that it is women who are partly responsible for the publication of scandal in newspapers, he said as a matter of fact is men. Newspapers read by women, she declared, are delivered at homes, not bought on the streets.

Mrs. Frances French, commenting on Mrs. Colby's remarks, said she understood that Stone had intended to ask the aid of club women in elevating the moral of the newspaper press, but when he stood up to speak and saw that vast sea of upturned faces "he was scared and in his confusion did not express his meaning properly."

"What?" ejaculated Mrs. Charles M. Pepper, "a man who has been in the news paper business in Chicago as long as Mr. Stone has not scared? I guess not."

INQUIRY POSTPONED.
New York, June 6.—The coroner's inquiry into the mysterious death on Saturday of Frank T. Young, a wealthy bookmaker, was to day postponed until Friday, notwithstanding a strong protest against delay by counsel for Mrs. Nan Patterson, who is being held in connection with the case. The coroner fixed the woman's bail at $5,000.

Mese, trustee of the northern Illinois normal; T. H. Wellington, secretary of the board of trustees of the Elgin hospital; A. F. Dolt, chief clerk of the Pontiac reformatory; C. Tending, chief engineer.

Among those whose resignations have been requested are:

A. F. Aspinwall, trustee of the Pontiac reformatory; J. P. Blackman, commissioner of the southern Illinois penitentiary; W. T. Thiers, chief clerk of the Elgin asylum.

Col. Andrew J. Lester, of Gov. Yates' military staff, has resigned and others will follow, it is asserted.

COLORADO CITY SCENE OF RIOT

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO
FATALLY INJURED

Trouble Starts During Meeting Held to Discuss Dynamite Explosion—Pitched Battle Looked for at Any Moment.

Victor, Colo., June 6.—Rioting broke out in this city this afternoon while a mass meeting was being held to discuss the explosion at Independence. Forty shots were fired into a crowd in the street. One man was killed and six persons at least injured. The dead:

R. McGee, of Victor, shot through the heart.

Of the injured W. Hoskins and Alfred Miller, both of Goldfield, may die.

Secretary Hamlin, of the Mine Owners' association, concluding a short address, said:

"I want to hear what the boys in the mines have got to say about this trouble." William Hoskins, a union miner from Goldfield, asked to be heard and was hissed by the crowd. A free-for-all fight followed and shooting began. Most of the shots were directed skyward. Hoskins fell with a bullet in his body and the crowd scattered in every direction.

After the first excitement cleared away the injured and dying were gathered up. R. McGee, of Victor, who was instantly killed, was standing on an embankment thirty feet above the men who had been fighting and was an innocent spectator.

A pitched battle is looked for at any moment. There are 5,000 men on the streets and union men are arming themselves and lined up at the corner of Fourth and Victor avenues.

Previous to the rioting Sheriff Tolson was summoned to the meeting of the Mine Owners' association at Armory hall, where his resignation was demanded. The county commissioners immediately appointed Edward Bell sheriff.

Nearly all the mines in the district were closed by orders of the mine owners and hundreds of miners flocked to the town from surrounding hills. Fully 1200 supporters of the association gathered at the armory where the meeting was held. At the same time 1,000 armed men were assembling at the corner of Victor avenue and Fourth street in response to a call for a mass meeting. Most of these were union men, who declared their intention to resist to the death any attempt to run them out of the district.

City Marshal O'Connell hurriedly swore in several hundred citizens, most of them union men, as deputies, after being refused admission to the mine owners' headquarters. After a conference with Sheriff Bell and a number of mine owners, Mayor French removed O'Connell, who then dismissed his deputies. Then followed the rioting in which McGee was killed and at least six persons injured.

After the rioting began Sheriff Bell ordered out all the soldiers in the district and appointed 100 deputies.

Wholesale arrests of union miners will follow. Wholesale arrests of union men will be made, it is said. Soldiers have already arrested a trio of editors and printers of the Daily Record and City Marshal O'Connell put them in the bull pen. All wealthy mine owners are carrying guns.

FIRE ON SOLDIERS.
Denver, June 6.—Adjutant General Bell has been informed by telephone from Victor that an attack was made late this afternoon on the Miners' union hall by a squad of soldiers. Major Taylor sent the guards to aid in quelling the disturbances on Fourth street. When the soldiers turned into Fourth street they were fired upon from houses on both sides of the street. They returned the fire and reeled on at double quick until they were near the Miners' union hall. At that point the mob scattered and as the soldiers halted several shots were fired at them from windows of the hall. The doors of the building had been left open and a dozen guardsmen fired into the hall as fast as they could work their rifles. After a few volleys an order to take the place by assault was given and they jumped in. It was reported to General Bell that a number of men were killed, but none of the guardsmen injured.

FILIPINO COMMISSIONERS.
Cincinnati, June 6.—The honorary board of Filipino commissioners arrived to night and were escorted to the residence of Charles P. Taft, brother of Secretary Taft, where a reception was given the visitors. Secretary Taft was present and introduced the commissioners to a large number of citizens.

Palliser, of New York, to day issued a call for a Democratic convention in Cooper Union, June 18, to protest against the action of the Albany convention and send a delegation to St. Louis to protest against Judge Parker, the New York state platform and leadership of the "Hill-Belmont-McClellan combination."

Ambassador Sternburg will personally represent the emperor and will make the address of presentation. Addresses will be made by the president, Secretary Taft and Tower, American ambassador at Berlin.

TRI-CLASS LEAGUE

Illinois College Men Form
Unique Organization—Reunion of Classes of '99, '00 and
'01 Held.

Among the other events at Illinois college Monday was the reunion of three classes, which was held during the afternoon and evening. The arrangements had been made several weeks ago for a reunion of the classes of '99, '00 and '01, and since all three were to have reunions this year, it was decided to hold a banquet of the three classes. Many of the grads from out of the city arrived in the morning and met with their respective classes during the afternoon. The members of the class of '00 met with Prof. T. P. Carter, their former class officer, who resides on Mound avenue. The '99 and '01 men held their class meetings in the parlor of the Dunlap hotel.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the business meeting of the reunion was held at the Dunlap hotel. Here a new venture was launched which gives promise of making class reunions in the future far more enthusiastic meetings than any heretofore held. The classes formed a permanent organization, to be known as the Tri-class league of Illinois college. The membership of this league will consist of all the members of the three classes, not only the graduates of the classes, but also all who at any time were members of either class while in college.

The object of this permanent organization is to stimulate class reunions, further college enterprises and provide a means of creating greater interest in class reunions.

In this league all ex-members of the three classes will be included, bringing them again in touch with old classmates and continuing to hold them close to Illinois college. This will give a total membership of about seventy-five students and it will be the endeavor of the officers of this newly formed league to keep in close touch with every member. The reunions will be held every two years in connection with the class reunions which will also be held at that time. The following officers were elected by the Tri-class league for the ensuing two years:

President—H. J. Capps, '99.
Vice president—Cash Uford, '01.
Secretary—T. W. Beadle, '00.
Treasurer—A. H. Rankin, '99.
Historian—John Kern, '00.

A board of control is to be appointed by President Capps, which committee will make all arrangements for the annual reunions in the future.

Following the business of the three classes the members adjourned to the dining room of the hotel at 7 o'clock, where a most excellent menu was served.

After the banquet, Albert H. Rankin, '99, was selected as toastmaster and in a most happy manner introduced the several members of the three classes, who spoke of the various experiences that had come to them during the past few years, and pledged anew their loyalty to old Illinois college and the new class league.

These present at the reunion and banquet were:

Class of '99—A. H. Rankin, H. J. Capps, Ralph Crisman, Galena, Ill.; Robert Kennedy, Bloomington.
Class of '00—Prof. T. P. Carter, class officer; Charles Cole, John Kearns, Victor Nelson, Chicago; Eugene Nelson, Springfield, Mo.; Harry Dohms, W. H. Sanford, Arthur Fairbank, T. W. Beadle.
Class of '01—Prof. J. G. Ames, class officer; G. H. Stacey, F. L. Gregory, A. E. Fell, A. H. Dollar, T. V. Hopper, C. W. Ufford, of Birmingham, Ala.; W. S. Sanford, Chicago; M. L. Laird, Chicago; C. M. Buckley, Petersburg; F. C. Coleman, Des Moines, Iowa.

As the waters subside the great amount of damage wrought becomes more apparent.

tions Confined to Liberation

Rumors current in Madrid that European powers have exchanged notes relative to restricting American operations in Morocco are discredited by the foreign office here.

Washington, June 6.—Rear Admiral Chadwick to day called the navy department that the British minister at Morocco had requested the English government to send a battleship to Tangier and gave information that the action of Morocco expected to arrive at Tangier. NOMINATION OF DENEEN

BROUGHT ABOUT BY LOGIC OF EVENTS

Details of Conferences Leading to Agreement Not Likely to Be Made Public for Many Years.

Special to Globe-Democrat.
Springfield, June 6. The passing of the Republican state convention into history makes possible some analysis of its proceedings and its results. No such state convention was ever before held, in or out of Illinois. While the convention was in progress the country looked on with palpable interest. Yet what the public saw was but a small part of what actually was happening. The forces which controlled the proceedings were at work outside of the public session of the convention. For these one had to search the conference rooms scattered here and there on the upper floors of the Leland hotel. But into these were admitted only the most trusted advisers and confidants of the candidates. It was there that the political fortunes were being decided in the outcome of the contest for the governorship.

Not much could be revealed while the deadlock remained unbroken, but with the end of the contest the tongues of many of the participants have loosened and here and there may be picked up the broken fragments of the inner happenings. Of course, a full and complete history of the famous deadlock, of the efforts made to end it, of the many things which formed impassable barriers to a settlement, is not likely ever to be written. No man knows it all and not all of the men who know essential facts will tell all. The reason is obvious. Years will pass before many of the most important of the incidents will come to light. For the next forty years we may expect from time to time to have reminiscences of the deadlock and many interesting things will remain undisclosed until related by some gray-haired politician now in early or middle life.

That Governor Yates should end the deadlock by throwing his support to Mr. Deneen was to the majority of the politicians and to the public a surprising culmination of the contest. Yet a careful review of the facts, as they have been known for some time and as they are now coming to light, makes such a result appear quite logical. From the beginning of the contest Yates was the central figure. This was due not only to the fact that he was a governor seeking to retain the office, but to the fact that he was the object of a warfare almost without precedent in the history of the state. When he began his campaign last September he did so in the face of discouragements that would have appalled an ordinary man. The belief was widespread and was shared by many of his political friends, that no delegates would be near the limit of his possible achievement. Efforts to keep him out of the contest had been made, but he was not of the metal to surrender without a fight. It was plain that his fight must be single-handed, and single-handed it proved to be.

LOWDEN MEN PROPOSE COMBINE.
Away back in August, before the public knew he would certainly be a candidate for re-nomination, the temptation to make an alliance with a Cook county candidate was held out to him. To make such a combination Senator Hopkins and William Lorimer journeyed to Springfield and on the night of Aug. 18 held a protracted conference with the governor at the executive mansion. The purpose of that conference was not, as newspaper reports had it at the time, to persuade the governor to stay out of the fight. No such proposition of suggestion was made, although it had been reported that both Hopkins and Lorimer were desirous of keeping the governor from making the race. The only point that was made at that conference was that the governor was not available delegates together. On the other hand, they had reason to believe that the influence at work would rapidly increase Lowden's vote until the governor would join in his nomination.

This was not good reasoning, for nobody then knew what desperate stagers the delegates were, and not many knew that the governor had resolved upon an entirely different course from that contemplated by the Lowden men in case of a serious and a delegate-getter in Cook county and such a candidate had become a necessity. The Chicago candidate suggested was Colonel Lowden and the suggestion was made that the two men ought to get together and enter into an arrangement that ultimately would combine their respective followings in the state convention. This, however, the governor emphatically refused to do. Nevertheless, for some time after the contest began, it was expected that Yates and Lowden had a secret understanding and that they would conduct their campaign with a view eventually to uniting. But Lowden's fight in the country soon dispelled the supposition. In Chicago he had gone into the fight with the backing of Lorimer and the "organization," which had been supporting Yates, but in the country he stood up with the leaders of the Culbom wing of the party. Evidence began to accumulate that he was in reality, the candidate of Senator Culbom much as the latter tried to conceal the fact.

While this was the first big obstacle in the way of an ultimate combination between Yates and Lowden, for Culbom was openly fighting the governor, Lowden and Yates drifted apart farther and farther, until, when the state convention met, it was a question whether an effective combination between them could be made. They did make a combination on questions affecting the seating of delegates and the organization of the convention, but it stopped there.

SECRET OPPOSITION OF YATES.
Yates entered the state convention defeated by a force which until now had not shown its hand. The attitude of Speaker Cannon was not fully known before he left Washington. His county having been instructed for Hamlin, he was supposed to be for the attorney general, but it soon became clear that his personal influence was being used for Lowden. Senator Culbom had come to Springfield professing slight interest in the personality of the candidates, but that he was for Lowden was soon shown beyond doubt. Senator Hopkins was a doubtful quantity. His obligations to the governor for his election to the senate two years ago were well known, but never at any time had he declared himself publicly for Yates. He was found now to be willing to go into the fight for the governor to the extent of giving him most of the Kane county delegates, but his private influence was being exerted for Lowden. A number of congressmen and numerous federal officers, postmasters, marshals and revenue collectors and their subordinates were at work for Lowden.

FIRST COMMON GROUND.
Thus what became known as the "federal crowd" was the main force which Yates had to fight. But Deneen had to fight it also and so did Hamlin, Sherman and Pierce, and that supplied the first common ground on which these candidates were able to meet. The hand of the "federal crowd" was shown early in the balloting. Wherever the delegation was controlled by federal influence it became a Lowden delegation, either openly at once or wavering in that direction.

Jersey county provided a typical case. That county, in Yates' congressional district, had instructed for Hamlin, but the delegation, under the control of Postmaster Becker, lost no time in breaking to Lowden and then jumped about until the final ballot, when it climbed into the Deneen "band wagon."

Colonel Lowden, with Lorimer, Jamieson, Smythe and the other Chicago organization leaders, had come to Springfield thoroughly convinced that under no circumstances would Yates be a party to the nomination of Deneen. There were, however, some important facts not in their possession, among others, that for fully two months before then the way had been opened for a possible combination that would nominate either Deneen or Yates. They had also underestimated the ability of the governor to hold his break in his forces. After months of fighting and after securing, as shown by the first ballot, more than half of the delegates outside of Cook county, he had resolved that the only combination with the Lowden forces that would be just to himself would be one that would result in his own nomination.

There were many reasons for this view, not only that he had more delegates, but that the very men who had given Lowden most of the delegates credited to him were men who were obligated deeply to him. At the head of the list was William Lorimer, who had for three years practically everything he requested. There were others, like Joseph H. Bidwell, who were Yates appointees. The governor knew also that Lowden could not be nominated except with the co-operation and support of Senator Hopkins. With the memory of the senatorial defeat of 1902 fresh in his mind he felt that Hopkins could not consistently support Lowden or any other candidate than himself.

YATES PLANS A SURPRISE.
While the full force of the "federal crowd" had not yet appeared, Yates was fully apprised of this influence, and he went into the convention thoroughly determined to circumvent, at any cost, the result sought to be accomplished. A fact, hitherto known in a very limited circle, is that on the first day of the convention Governor Yates went to Chairman Cannon and stated that at some stage of the proceedings a contingency might arise which would make it desirable for him to address the convention.

"But you are not a delegate," objected the speaker of the house. "Under the rules, you would have no right to the floor."

The governor displayed a proxy from a Morgan county delegate.

"Under the rule adopted," was the chairman's answer, "proxies are not recognized."

The emergency the governor had in mind was a possible break to Lowden that might be serious enough to nominate him. His interview with Chairman Cannon had convinced him that he might not be able to secure recognition, should the desire to withdraw in favor of another candidate, and so he decided upon something to take the place of a speech.

The balloting did not begin until the second day, and that morning Governor Yates carried with him into the convention a fat package covered with a newspaper and thrust it under his chair. Not even his Morgan county delegates, who sat with him, knew that the package contained political dynamite, something which, if made use of, would have broken the deadlock instantly, for the package contained printed placards of all the other candidates except Lowden, articles common enough in the lobby and the corridors of the Leland hotel, and harmless enough there, but any one of them of sufficient power, had it been held aloft by Yates in view of the convention, to have carried 400 votes or more to another candidate. The emergency did not arise, the governor did not mount his chair and display a Deneen or a Hamlin or Sherman banner, and some janitor next morning swept out the little package without stopping to open it and without dreaming what hand had brought it there.

EMERGENCY FINALLY ARISES.
Three weeks passed before the emergency contemplated by the governor did arise, and then it was met in a different manner. Throughout the deadlock the Lowden leaders held firmly to the belief that Yates would never join in nominating Deneen. This was the belief of Senator Hopkins up to the night before the final ballot, when he said to the Yates committee which waited on him at midnight to ask him as to his intentions: "Yates can never go to Deneen, for that will mean his elimination, the elimination of you gentlemen, and my own elimination."

How badly mistaken was this view was proven within a few hours. When Senator Hopkins was talking to the committee Lowden's chances were far better than was generally supposed. On the day before he had come within 121 votes of the nomination, and now had rallied a sufficient number, as he believed, to assure success. Hopkins' refusal to return to Yates practically decided the latter to nominate Deneen.

Thus the new alliance was the outgrowth of conditions which did not develop fully until the convening of the convention. It came about quite naturally, impelled by the common opposition to the so-called "federal crowd."

The antipathy to "federal" influence had grown from day to day. It reached its culmination on Thursday, the day before the nomination, when ex-Congressman Reeves, in calling upon the candidates for expressions on the "release" resolution, gave Colonel Lowden first place, and that, too, without notice to the governor that the candidates were to be asked to speak. That incident, manifestly engineered to help Lowden, had much to do with solidifying the opposition and with hastening the end which came the next day.

Hamlin, brings together the largest factions which have divided the party for several years and assures substantial harmony in the party. While, as pointed out, the result was opposed by the two senators and those allied with them, yet that does not mean that they will lead a factional contest. On the other hand, they have accepted the result gracefully. The result means, however, that party affairs in Illinois for some years to come will be controlled by the organization led by Deneen, Yates, Sherman and Hamlin. This, it is anticipated, will make the strongest organization the party has ever had in the state. Colonel Lowden himself is in no danger of remaining in oblivion. His ability and personal popularity are certain to bring him to the front again.

Mr. Deneen, as a candidate, is expected to be a big vote-getter, especially in view of his nomination under circumstances which will harmonize the party. He is a man of a high order of ability, of unassailable character, and even the Democrats admit that he will make an ideal governor.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 24, 1901.—For twelve years I have suffered from sweet diabetes and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with but little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and will cheerfully testify to the public that it did me more good than all things else put together and am altogether another man. I have persuaded many of my friends to try it.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eliminated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Sealing the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful tresses of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS

DELIVERED TO SENIOR CLASS OF ILLINOIS COLLEGE

Able Discourse by Albion Small Dean of Graduate Department of Chicago University—Large Audience Present.

The baccalaureate exercises of the graduating class of Illinois college were held at Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday morning. There was a large congregation present and the church had been most beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The members of the board of trustees, the faculty, the alumni, the members of the senior class and the under graduates formed in procession in the parlors of the church and entered in a body.

After an anthem by the choir, "Sing O Heavens," by Rogers, Dr. E. S. Hayden invoked the divine blessing. The usual opening exercises of the church service were conducted by President Barnes, Dr. C. M. Brown, pastor of the church, read the scripture lesson from a portion of the eighth chapter of John. Dr. R. O. Post, of the Congregational church, offered a most fervent prayer and the choir sang most beautifully, "That Sweet Story of Old," by West. President Barnes then made the announcements for commencement week, after which Miss Grace Dudley sang most artistically that ever beautiful solo, "By the Waters of Babylon."

President Barnes then introduced Dr. Albion Small, dean of the graduate department of Chicago university, who delivered the baccalaureate address. It was a masterful effort, and was without doubt one of the ablest discourses ever delivered to a graduating class in this city. The speaker made a slight departure from the usual practice on such occasions, and instead of devoting the major part of his discourse to a general commencement theme and the last five or ten minutes to the members of the graduating class, he directed his whole time and thought directly to the members of the class. A synopsis of his address is presented as follows:

"I know of nothing that brings us so near the fountain of youth as the American college. There is a free-masonry among college men, and under graduates and alumni meet in an atmosphere of freedom that is altogether delightful. Therefore this morning I shall forget that I am far removed from the days of graduation, and shall try to put myself back into that period of my own life in which you now are."

"I shall speak this morning directly to the members of the senior class. Men of the senior class, what do you know? What have you learned? What are you going to carry out into the world? Does it amount to anything? Is it worth while?"

"Jesus said, 'If you continue in my word, you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.' The amount of what you can see in the meaning of those words, is the measure of the value of what you have learned. The way to be free is to continue in the word of Christ. What is the word of Christ? How do we understand it? Don't make the mistake, my young friends, that the incomplete expressions found in the New Testament are the words of Christ; They are merely the catch words by which we are enabled to follow out the truth of Christ's teachings."

"The truth of Christ is found in all the activities of life, and the older we grow, the more experiences we have, the more we see that the truth of Christ is expressing itself in the realities of life. Continuing in the word of Christ is being loyal to the truth, as it is manifested in every walk of life."

"First, we must love and sympathize with the truth of Christ. This may hurt, it may make us do things contrary to our desire, and make us feel as if we were of no account, but by the love of the truth, which is at the heart of the truth, which is to do the right thing at all times, and under all circumstances. No man is free until he has learned to do the right thing, and not only does the right thing, but is glad to do it. The deed may belie the heart, and if it does, the doing of it is of no value to the doer."

"Again, continuing in the truth means doing the truth. I once knew a master mechanic of a great railroad system, who remarked to me that very often when I am at work trying to contrive some kind of a model, I feel that I am dealing with dead material, but when I stop to consider for a moment, the thought comes to me of the truth of the Bible, that whatsoever you do, do all to the glory of God, and so I glory in the work of Christ."

"Our religion must dignify and glorify our deeds of low as well as of high degree. It must make us do right to ourselves and to others. It must make us do the truth and reflect it. By merely professing religion, or by being known as a Christian, or by merely going to church, will never make a man know the truth, any more than it will make him a civil engineer, a physician or a lawyer. Other things, however, being considered, by continuing in the work of Christ, and of the more persistent and insistent his devotion in the love of religion becomes, the greater he will become in whatever walk of life he enters."

"Cheating in examination hurts the man vastly more than the teacher he tries to deceive. The man who introduces a false process into his thinking fails in the attainment of those processes that result in the acquirement of mental, moral and spiritual power."

"Education must enable us to see life from every point of view. We are sojourners in an experimental land, and are here on probation. The truth of the Bible is given us to guide us along our pathway. We are voyagers on the sea of life, and Jesus has said, that if we knew the truth we should be able to pass safely through the waters and at last enter the blessed haven."

"The man that sins is a slave of sin, and the only way to be free is to stop sinning. The slave of sin needs a deliverer, and the only deliverance is that which comes through the truth. We are free only in proportion as we find out the truth, and use it."

"As parents and teachers, we are only children of a larger growth, and when we try, in our sometimes self-styled independence, to improve upon the laws of God, we find that we have cheated ourselves. I once knew a man, a bank teller, who tried to improve upon the laws of industry and honesty, and his career ended in ignominy, disgrace and humiliation. Long before his friends knew of his disgrace he had suffered the tortures of the damned. The laws of God are given us to show us the line of safety, and that means the way of the largest life."

"When Charles Sumner entered the United States senate, one of his colleagues grasped him by the hand, and in words of confidence expressed the regret that he had not entered the senate at an earlier day when there was an opportunity to become great. Things were now in a peaceful and tranquil state, domestic and foreign difficulties having been adjusted and there seemed no victories for statesmanship to win. It proved, however, to be the calm before the storm, and you are all familiar with the great fame Charles Sumner won. Some are apt to take the same view of life to day, but I say to you, young men of the graduating class, that if you desire to be doers, if you want to be something to pass, the present age has greater opportunities for men who are white in heart than any other age the world has ever known. Don't make a mistake, young men, of belittling riches or rich men; don't think politics is a career to be shunned. The cry of the hour is not fewer politicians, but more politicians, who will be better politicians. We will always need bosses, even the sewing circle has to have its boss. The proof of the boss, however, is his bossing. If you can help to make our political life cleaner and purer, you will perform a lasting service to your generation."

"The thought I would bring to you to day is the underlying thought of life, namely; that you may so act in life that when you go up with that cloud of whiteness to that great white throne, you may be able to say that although have not won the applause of men, you have taken Christ's view of life, and have applied that view to your work in the flesh. Men of the graduating class, continue in this light, and if there is any freedom in life, that light will make you free."

At the conclusion of the address, the congregation joined in singing a hymn, and the benediction was pronounced by President Barnes.

GRAND CELEBRATION

Appropriate Observance of Fourth of July Planned—Program to Include Many Events—Balloon Ascensions etc.

Hurrah for the Fourth of July! Jacksonville is to have a monster demonstration. All Morgan county has been invited to join in making the nation's birthday one long to be remembered.

A committee of representative citizens met at the office of T. H. Buckthorpe Monday evening and talking the matter over, decided to have a mammoth celebration. All the usual attractions will be arranged for and many new features will be added. There will be two balloon ascensions, a program of athletic events, a picnicking and apple eating contest, a free dance and free vaudeville attractions during the day, with a grand display of pyrotechnics in the evening.

The meeting last night organized with the selection of T. H. Buckthorpe chairman, J. K. Long, secretary and John R. Robertson, treasurer.

A soliciting committee was appointed as follows: J. R. Davis, Felix Farrell, William Batz, Frank Byrnes and T. H. Buckthorpe.

There is yet time to arrange for a grand celebration and the committee should have the hearty and prompt support of all public spirited citizens.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel G. Strawn entertained about 150 guests at their beautiful country home Monday evening in honor of their son, Ernest's 22nd birthday. They were assisted by their daughter, Miss Mabel, and niece, Miss Cora Strawn, of Tuscola.

The house was tastefully decorated with cut flowers, red and white being the prevailing colors. The lawn was brilliantly lighted with Japanese lanterns, where a platform was erected, dancing being the main feature of amusement. Music was furnished by Wood's orchestra of Franklin. At an appropriate hour elegant refreshments were served. The host received many beautiful presents, among them a gold watch and chain from his parents. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing their young host many happy returns of the day. Among those present were Harry D. Dohyus, Earl St. Clair and Roy Covington, of this city; Philip Wheeler, of Chicago; Earl Wheeler and sister, Harriet, of Sinclair; Claude Strawn, of Tuscola; Miss Effie Warecup, of Markham; Mrs. M. A. Covington, of Murfreesboro; Fred Stubblefield, of Pisgah, and Charles Strawn, of Alexander.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. JANE SHERZER OF ILLINOIS COLLEGE.

The Alumnae of the Academy desire to express their love and appreciation of Dr. Jane Sherzer in all that she has been to them, to their alma mater and to the people of Jacksonville. It has been an honor to our city and to our state as well as to us, that one so cultured, so gifted, so lovely in Christian character, the second woman in the United States and the third in the world, to receive a degree from the University of Berlin, should honor our institutions of learning by being the dean of the woman's department of Illinois College.

And more than all we are grateful that our worthy young people have had the privilege of daily associating with one so just, so true, and so enthusiastic in all the nobler, higher aspirations of life. (Wherever she may go may she receive the honor and reward she so justly merits. Committee on Resolutions:

Mary Turner Carrell,
Louise Hill Osborne,
Susan Lowell Barnes.

SENIOR PROMENADE.

The annual senior promenade given by the members of the graduating class of Illinois College took place Monday evening and was a most delightful affair. The promenade was held in the gymnasium and was by far the largest attended and most successful senior prom held in recent years. The hall was prettily decorated with college and class colors and was brilliantly lighted. Chinese lanterns extended along the walk approaching the building and the effect was very pretty. A program of eighteen dances and several extras was enjoyed and Jeffries orchestra furnished delightful music.

The occasion was graced by the presence of President and Mrs. Barnes and a large number of the faculty and other friends of the institution.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hurd, of Morgantown, N. C., are in the city guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Brown.

WANDERING POLES.

In addition to the variation of the earth's axis produced by the procession of the equinoxes, occupying a period of 25,868 years, it has been shown by Peters (1844) and Nyrén (1873) that there is also a periodical shifting of the axis of rotation relatively to the earth's surface. This produces a continuous variation of latitudes, a fact which had been suspected by Bessel so early as 1817.

Professor Albrecht, who has summarized the results of different observers, finds that since 1890 the earth's pole has described an irregular spiral around a mean position from which it does not deviate more than 0.3 degrees (three-tenths of a second of arc). Mr. S. C. Chandler concludes that the variation is composed of two terms, one having a period of fourteen months and the other of a year.

Medicinal Herb Farms.

Medicinal herb farms will become a necessity in the United States. Spigelia (pink root), serpentaria and senega (the two varieties of snake-root), which were formerly found in abundance wild in Maryland and other Atlantic states, are becoming scarce. Senna, colocynth, gentian and the poppy have been grown to some extent, and digitalis purpurea (foxglove), atropia belladonna (deadly nightshade), sanguinaria canadensis (blood root) and cimicifuga racemosa (black cohosh) have been grown experimentally. Farmers near Kalamazoo, Mich., raise annually 40,000,000 pounds of peppermint. Valerian is a wild product of Vermont.

Made Him Hotter Than Before.

We all have our trials at the telephone, but we do not usually hear "Central's" opinion of us. A San Francisco lawyer, who had been trying for ten minutes or more without success to get the number he asked for, at last gave vent to his annoyance in very strong language. His wife, who was standing near, said persuasively, "Let me try, dear." Then, in a gentle voice, which was intentionally a strong contrast to his angry tones, she called, "Hello, Central!" Her husband distinctly heard "Central" answer promptly: "Just a moment, madam. There is a crazy man on the line. Let me settle him first."

How Verdi Found Peace.

It is told of Verdi that when he was spending a summer at Moncalieri a friend found him occupying a small room for eating, sleeping and receiving his friends, and Verdi observed that he had two large rooms, but he had filled them with certain articles he had hired. And he opened a door and showed him ninety-five barrel organs. "When I came here," said the composer, "all these played 'Rigoletto,' 'Il Trovatore' and similar rubbish from morning to night. I hired them for the season for 1,500 lire and am at peace."

St. Pierre Now a Graveyard.

The volcanoes of Mont Pelee, St. Pierre and Martinique are entirely extinct, and smoke has disappeared. The place has come to be very attractive to tourists, hundreds of whom visit the scene of one of the world's greatest tragedies every day. The search for jewels and money continues in the ruins and probably will until every house site on the island has been raked over a score of times. The once beautiful city of St. Pierre is now a graveyard.

Better Late Than Never.

A woman entered a Franklin Falls (N. H.) shoe store recently and said to the proprietor, "You have a bill against my grandfather, haven't you?" "Yes," was the reply. "How much is it?" was the next question. The proprietor did not remember, but it was arranged that he should look it up and she would call later. He did so, and it was found to be eighteen years old. A few days later the woman called and settled.

A Quaint Introduction.

Senator Spooner of Wisconsin says the best speech of introduction he ever heard was delivered by a German mayor of a small town in Wisconsin, where Spooner had engaged to speak. The mayor said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I asked half been to introduce you to the Hon. Senator Spooner, who to you will make a speech, yes. I had now done so, and he will now do so."

New York's Big Budget.

The city budget of New York is greater than the combined budgets of any five other cities in the country. New York pays salaries to more than 46,000 persons, amounting to about $55,000,000 a year. No other city in the world pays its employees such high wages. No corporation or private business could afford such a drain upon its resources.—World's Work.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Seeding a Grass Meadow.

In establishing a timothy or mixed grass meadow the main point is to get the soil fine and firm. This can be best and most economically accomplished by growing a crop of potatoes on the land, and after the potato crop is harvested pulverize the soil with harrow and roller, says a Maine farmer in American Cultivator. Sow the seed as soon after Sept. 1 as conditions are favorable. The so called "nurse crop" is a robber crop, although when one wishes to sow grass seed in the spring three pecks of oats or barley sown per acre are preferable to the weed crop that will spring up where nothing but grass seed is sown, or a timothy meadow may be economically established by sowing the seed among standing corn in July, provided the corn is planted in hills 4 by 4 feet and kept level by cultivating both ways and using a weeder.

The Weeder on the Farm.

The beauty of the weeder is that it is good in wet weather or dry, says National Stockman. Often when there comes a wet spell the weeds get dry enough to go on it with an ordinary cultivator. If one has a weeder one can go on and kill the tiny weeds as soon as the top inch of soil is dry. This opens up the packed soil and helps very much in drying out the land, and if the weeder is kept going the weeds never get a start.

The time to kill weeds is just as they germinate. If they are moved at all at this time their hold on earth is broken and they die, while the corn, potatoes, beans or whatever crop is being cultivated has its roots below the depth reached by the weeder.

Turnips For Table Use.

Prepare the seed bed thoroughly and see that the soil is rich and new if possible. Plant as soon as the ground is in good working condition, using seed of the Early Flat or Extra Early Mitten. Sow broadcast and cover lightly with a garden rake. For fall and winter delay the seeding until August, then sow seed of Redtop Strap Leaf, White Egg or White Globe. Quick growth results in tender, juicy turnips. If rainfall is abundant there will be no trouble in this respect. If very dry the best turnips must not be expected. Plant very early or late in July or August to avoid the dry, hot weather of midsummer.—American Agriculturist.

Sal Soda For Dairy Vessels.

As a labor saving material try sal soda in cleansing milk jars, crocks and tins. Many of the cantankerous notions taken by milk shown in its fermenting and frothing and refusal to churn are due to the mysterious bacteria that are left in the cracks and seams of the milk vessels after they have been washed in good hot water and rinsed out. Use a little sal soda in the warm wash water and these harmful germs are destroyed. You cannot see them, but they come there and stay there in nearly all milk vessels during the spring and summer season. Poison them with sal soda.—Farm and Ranch.

Potato Blight.

The rot of potatoes, which frequently follows an attack of blight, is caused by spores which fall upon the ground and are washed down to the tubers by the rain, says American Agriculturist. In some cases the fungus may pass down the stem and the tubers become infected in that way, but this method is the exception rather than the rule. So far as known the potato blight fungus has no spores which live over winter. It is believed that the fungus survives the winter in slightly affected tubers. Hence it is advisable to avoid planting tubers which show any signs of disease.

Finishing Barley.

Barley for feeding purposes has the greatest feeding value some time before it is dead ripe, and at this period also there is the heaviest weight per bushel as well as the heaviest crop of grain. But for malting purposes it is essential that the "maturation" process, which takes place when it is allowed to stand till it is dead ripe, should be complete. During this time the kernel of the grain is converted from a "steely" or "dinky" to that of a mealy or starchy condition. Simultaneously the percentage of starch increases, and the albuminoids decrease.

Erysipelas In Swine.

A vaccine has apparently been discovered which is a specific for swine erysipelas, according to the agricultural department at Washington. The Jenner Pasteur Institute at Budapest has prepared a serum which requires two inoculations at intervals of about twelve days. This method has been tested upon 9,250 animals, not a single case developing erysipelas after vaccination.

The Cure of Dairy Cows.

Cows should always be handled and driven deliberately, and so none but experienced people who can always control their temper should be about them. Get up early enough in the morning so that you will not have to hurry the cows in from the pasture, and quit field work early enough at night for the same reason.—Dairy and Creamery.

Selection of Nursery Stock.

Planting overgrown nursery stock because it can be secured cheaper than young stock is a serious mistake. In the first place the handling is much greater, and again, such trees will never make the sturdy and vigorous growth of the younger trees. To use them at any price is poor economy.—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Dyspepsia Tablets

TRADE NAME

The Secret of Long Life

If you would live long, guard your stomach. Most cases of sickness and death are traced to the stomach. A disordered stomach shuts off food nourishment—the active principle of life. No other disease accomplishes this as quickly or so effectively as dyspepsia. Does your food distress you? Does a bitter fluid rise in your throat? Are you weak and dizzy? Does everything appear dark when you suddenly straighten up from a bent position? Is there a bad taste in your mouth and is your breath foul? Do you experience a sense of impending calamity? Are you becoming thin and haggard? Then you have dyspepsia! Many people think these symptoms will pass away of their own accord. They will not! Dyspepsia never cures itself—even the best scientists often fail to cure it. We know of but one remedy that will positively cure this disease—Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets.

These tablets furnish the one element necessary to enable the stomach to digest food and to again take up the work of supplying nourishment to the famished body.

We have seen them effect many marvelous cures. We do not know of a single instance where they failed to greatly benefit the sufferer.

We want you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, and agree to return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

MEYERS BROS. DEFEATED.

Jacksonville won a loosely played base-ball game from Meyer Bros., of Springfield, Sunday afternoon at the west side park by a score of 8 to 5.

Baker was on the slab for the locals and pitched a splendid game, allowing only two hits. His support was not as good as it should have been and at times the locals played a very loose game.

IF YOU HAVE DYSPEPSIA READ THIS.

The old way of taking pepsin, bismuth, etc., to cure dyspepsia is all wrong. They may be put up in tablets or in liquids, the result is just the same. The object is to create artificial digestion, but this does not make a cure. Stop taking the pepsin, etc., and have your dyspepsia or indigestion back again. People use cocaine or opium for nervous troubles and sick headache, it does not cure. Stop taking the drug and the pain and distress return. The only Common Sense Method is to drive out of the system the cause of dyspepsia and sick headache by cleaning the stomach and bowels and at the same time using a medicine that will act upon the liver. This forces through the glands of the stomach the digestive fluid that nature intended. In this way you cure dyspepsia. The medicine that cures dyspepsia by this method is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Druggists sell these pills at 25c a box. It only takes one pill for a dose. For sale by Lee P. Allcott.

THE DEATH RECORD.

SMITH.

Word was received late Monday afternoon of the death of Mrs. Clara Nolte Smith, of Humboldt, Kans. The sad news was a great shock to her friends in this city. It was known that she was ill, but the last word her aunt, Mrs. Helen D. Newell, had received from her was of a most encouraging nature.

Clara D. Nolte was born in Beardstown, Ill., and after a residence in Humboldt, Kans., spent the greater part of her life in this city. She was a graduate of the Jacksonville Female academy and of the Illinois Conservatory of Music. After completing her musical education in this city she spent a year in study in Boston. Returning to Jacksonville she devoted herself to teaching and was very successful. Possessed of a very sweet and pleasing voice herself, she was generous in the use of it and in church, social and musical circles she was often heard with delight.

For many years she was the leader of the choir of the Congregational church and ever made the music while under her care a most helpful feature of the service. She was a zealous worker in the auxiliary societies of the church and especially in the work of the Sunday school.

In September of 1903 she was united in marriage to Mr. Bergen Smith, of Humboldt, Kans., who survives her. Her death brings heartfelt sorrow to many, as her kind and generous disposition made her beloved and admired by a very large circle of friends. The deep sympathy of the many friends of her mother, Mrs. M. D. Nolte, who was at her bedside, will go out to her in this hour of trial and loss of an only child.

Mrs. Helen D. Newell and Charles Joy left for Humboldt last night, where the funeral will be held.

WESTROPE.

Mrs. Matilda Westrope died at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at her home on West North street, of heart trouble and other complications. She was the mother of four children, who have preceded her. Mrs. Westrope is survived by her husband, H. D. Westrope, and one granddaughter, Miss Flossie Crawford. Also two brothers, John M. and Albert S. Moore; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Vaughn, of Carlinville; Mrs. L. M. Buckley, of Sterling; and Mrs. Womack, of Girard. She was 51 years of age and a devoted member of the Baptist church. Her loss will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

The funeral will be conducted from the family residence on North street Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

ZEPPENFELD.

Frederick Henry Zeppenfeld, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Zeppenfeld, died at the home of his parents on South East street Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, after a severe illness of pneumonia. The deceased was born June 27, 1903, and is survived by his sorrowing parents and an elder brother and sister.

The funeral will be held from the residence of the parents Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. J. E. John, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, officiating. Interment will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

CHEEK.

At 5 o'clock Sunday evening Mrs. Jane Carter received a telegram announcing the death of her uncle, James Cheek, who died at 1:30 o'clock at Eureka.

Mrs. Carter will leave this morning to attend the funeral, which will be held to day.

EVANS.

John Evans died Saturday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock of heart failure at the Central Hospital for the Insane. Mr. Evans was 78 years old and had been in the hospital but two days. The remains were taken to his former home near Murrayville Sunday morning.

ANGELLO.

Mrs. Samuel P. Angello died suddenly at 7:50 o'clock Monday evening at her home near Lynnville. She was taken ill about 3:30 o'clock and was found lying on the floor in an unconscious condition. Soon after she passed away. Dr. Roberts, of Lynnville, was called, but could be of no assistance. Death was due to apoplexy.

Mrs. Angello was 59 years of age and was a consistent member of the Methodist church. She is survived by her husband and one son, Walter Angello; three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Ricks, of this city; Mrs. Luther Culp, of Woodson; and Mrs. Walter Dobson, of Murrayville; two brothers, William Mawson, of Archer, Mo., and Robert Mawson, of Lynnville, and one sister, Mrs. Phyllis Killian, of California.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

HONOR THE DEAD

Annual Memorial Exercises of Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Were Held Sunday Afternoon—Addresses by J. O. Priest and J. Marshall Miller.

The annual memorial exercises of the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors were held Sunday afternoon at Jacksonville cemetery. A great concourse of people participating in the solemn service.

The members of the two camps assembled at their hall on West State street at 1 o'clock and forming in line, marched to the cemetery, preceded by a platoon of city police. Jeffries Concert band, a beautiful floral arch, forerunner team, camp 912, and the speakers and committees in carriages. A long line of vehicles joined in the procession forming an imposing spectacle.

Arrived at the cemetery, John N. Joaquin, venerable consul, introduced Hon. John R. Davis, as chairman of the day. Mr. Davis, with a few words of greeting introduced Rev. R. F. Cressey, who invoked the divine blessing upon the assemblage. A quartette, consisting of Mrs. J. A. Scott, Mrs. Jennie DeFreitas, W. W. Gillman and Ed Marks, sang "America," after which the band played a selection.

The chairman then introduced Hon. James O. Priest, who addressed the assemblage in a characteristic speech, a few thoughts from which are given:

"As I contemplate the decoration of the graves of our dear departed friends, I think it a fitting occasion on which to pause and consider. For perhaps ever since the world began, men and women have been dying, and the great pendulum of time at every swing ticks the death of some one. We should not look upon this occasion altogether with sadness, for out of the past comes a Great Light, the Lord, Jesus Christ, and we do believe that somewhere in the great beyond the departed ones are enjoying a greater and truer life, with Him came a scheme of redemption, that those who die in the Lord shall not be lost. Every person who has died in this world has borne death alone. That is the only thing that should make the passing sad.

"Somewhere, about one hundred years ago, in Indiana, lived an old man and his wife together with a son and a daughter, in a backwoods cabin. One day the wife died. They did not have a hearse and pomp of a funeral of to day, but the father, son and daughter made a rough box, and carried her in an ox cart thirteen miles and buried her alone. It was none other than Abraham Lincoln and his father and sister, and if he had not a Christian father and mother there would have been something sad about it. But he had been taught that death is but the passage into a better life.

"The greatest people of the world are those who care most for their dead. It makes us better to honor the memory of those who have gone before. There isn't a Christian organization in the world that is extending the Christian love and charity that the Modern Woodmen are. We have come here to hold services in commemoration of our dear departed sisters and brothers who have been a part in this great system of love and charity. Woodmen are made up of men who have actually toiled with their hands and this is how they have attained so high a condition of love and fraternity."

After another selection, by the band, Hon. J. Marshall Miller was introduced and spoke as follows:

"He who cares not for his ancestors will care little for his posterity. Every nation which has in the past had little regard for their heroes, has ceased long ago to exist. Of the ten commandments, four speak of our duty to God, six of our duty to our fellow men. The man who cares not for his mother's grave will end in the penitentiary.

"I direct you to the pages of history to prove my statement. In China more than in any other country under the sun are the graves of ancestors revered, and this is the sole explanation of the long existence of China as a nation.

"It is well that we set apart a day for the veneration of our ancestors. To day we take these flowers and place them on the graves of our departed friends, we say that they mean nothing to them, but to us they mean much. When we deposit the wreath upon their graves, let us determine to imitate their virtues.

"I do not put Woderaft above the teachings of the religion, of Jesus Christ and of the church. If it were not for the teachings of the Bible, and the ten commandments, Woderaft would utterly fail as a noble and elevating and beneficent power. Woderaft lives because it is founded upon the ten commandments and follows the teachings of the parable of the good Samaritan.

"The best monument that any young man can leave to his father is himself. It is a mark of the highest citizenship that men revere their dead."

The quartette again sang and as the band played sacred music, the committee made the rounds of the cemetery and decorated the graves of their dead. This being accomplished the huge sounded "taps," and the assemblage took up the line of march from the place of the dead.

This was probably the most successful memorial service ever held by the local camps, and was in every way a success. Much credit is due to the committee on arrangements, which were as follows: For Star camp No. 171, R. N. A., Messdames Mary Taylor, Nellie Harvey, C. F. Tonn, Adam Ehrigott, Emma Vieira and Julia Smith; for Jacksonville camp No. 912, M. W. A., Messrs. C. F. Tonn, A. M. Vasconcellos and John N. Joaquin.

The deceased members of the two camps are as follows: Woodmen—Arson Desilva, Jos Meneses, John Meline, Levi Campbell, Victor Desilva, Henry Jones, Refino Gomes, Jos. W. McGlothlin, J. F. Fernandes, all in Jacksonville cemetery, John M. Coons, Arendia; George W. Bates, Mt. Sterling; James Trodenick, Peoria. Royal Neighbors—Messdames Jennie Fernandes, Mary Fernandes, Ella Brown, Priscilla Fortado, Lizzie Mendonsa, Rosa Ornelas, Rose Rodrigues and Katherine Oliver DeFreitas, all in Jacksonville cemetery; and Rose Fernandes in Diamond Grove.
